Color The Greenway

Bring The Greenway Home
with the Greenway Carousel at the Tiffany & Co. Foundation Grove
The Greenway Carousel

The Greenway Carousel first opened to the public on August 31, 2013.

In creating the Greenway Carousel, the Conservancy received generous support from Amalie Kass and The Tiffany & Co. Foundation; additional support was provided by the Massachusetts Cultural Council and dozens of other supporters.
Leading in Accessibility

In partnership with the Institute for Human Centered Design, we’re proud to have created the most ADA-compliant carousel in the region. Going well beyond wheelchair accessibility, the unique and important features make it possible for people with physical, sensory and cognitive disabilities to join in on the fun. Come for a spin!
From the minds of Boston students...

Local children sketched critters reflecting their personal experiences from Boston’s land, sea and air – visiting the sea turtle at the New England Aquarium, chasing butterflies on the Harbor Islands, whale watching off the coast, discovering the grasshopper on Faneuil Hall’s weather vane or seeing a fisherman empty his lobster pot. The children’s visions of swirling, swooping and swimming creatures have been brought to life by local sculptor Jeffrey Briggs and painter William Rogers.

Which is your favorite animal?
About the Artist

Jeffrey Briggs is the designer and sculptor of the Greenway Carousel. He has designed numerous custom carousels operating in Singapore, Finland, Saudi Arabia, Bolivia and throughout the United States.

Jeffrey and his wife Lindley have operated a sculptural design company, Briggs Design, in Newburyport, Massachusetts, for the past 48 years. Earlier in their career they produced over 6,000 wooden butterflies, moths, dragonflies, and wooden flowers that were sold throughout the country. They have worked on projects for Bloomingdales, Walt Disney World, Euro Disney, FAO Schwartz, The Rockport Shoe Company, Timberland Shoe Company, Eddie Bauer and L.L. Bean.

In recent years, Jeffrey and Lindley have shown their personal work in numerous galleries from Maine to Florida.

You may view their work on their website: www.briggssculpture.com.
#ColorTheGreenway

We would love to see your art! Please share on social or by email at info@rosekennedygreenway.org

@HelloGreenway  @rosekennedygreenway
Want more of #ColorTheGreenway? Check out our other projects below!

Explore past public art and color in Karl Unnasch's 2019 installation, Operant

Discover Matthew Hoffman's You Are Beautiful project which includes his 2016 installation, May This Never End

Learn about our incredible installations at the Greenway Mural at Dewey Square over the years and create your own